

End of a Nazi Plane in Egypt

A South African armored car cautiously circles wreckage of a German dive bomber brought to earth in the desert during Field Marshal Rommel's drive against Egypt. Air, tank, and infantry counter-attacks are reported, forcing the axis invaders back toward Libya.

Americans Smash 9 Nazi Tanks in Two-Day Fight in Libya

Suffer No Casualties; Believed Engaged Beside British

Washington, July 7.—(AP)—A token force of American tank soldiers met and defeated German panzer units in a Libyan desert skirmish June 12 and was believed today to be engaged alongside British troops in the battle of Egypt.

The war department announced the tank encounter in a communique last night. Dispatches from Cairo credited the American force with knocking out at least nine German tanks without suffering casualties itself in the battle between Knightsbridge and Acroma the day before the German ambush of the British armored force on June 13.

The Americans lost their tanks at Tobruk and got out of that contested port just before the Germans went in. Cairo advices said they were to have returned to America to apply lessons learned in the desert, but because of the German advance they were ordered to stay and join in the fight to save Egypt.

The American tank crews went to Africa under command of Major Henry Cabot Lodge (Senator Lodge of Massachusetts) who returned to Washington yesterday. During his desert tour of duty Lodge underwent machine-gun fire and dive bombing and narrowly escaped being taken prisoner.

"American crews manned American-made medium tanks in combat during a part of the battle of Libya on June 11 and 12," said the war department communique. They compromised a portion of a group of American armored force observers who have been in North Africa for several weeks.

Personnel Unharmed
"The tanks operated by the Americans were under the command of Captain Charles C. Stelling of Augusta, Georgia. In two days of heavy fighting, the American crews succeeded in knocking out several German tanks. The American tanks were hit repeatedly but were not seriously damaged. There were no battle casualties among the personnel."

Edward Kennedy, Associated Press war correspondent with allied troops, said the American unit saw little fighting on the first day. The following day it was part of a British formation charged with holding a desert ridge between Knightsbridge and Acroma to protect the withdrawal.

Two Spies Executed in London Prison Today

London, July 7.—(AP)—Two enemy spies—one of them a British subject—were executed today in Wandsworth prison.

The Briton was Jose Estella Key and the other, a Belgian national, was Alphonse Timmerman. They were convicted under the treason act, a home office announcement said, and their appeals later were dismissed. All the proceedings were in secret.

Timmerman, a 35-year-old ship's steward, entered this country last autumn posing as a "refugee" but, said the announcement, "his real mission as a spy was detected before he could do any mischief."

The War Today!

The weight and fierceness of Hitler's mammoth offensive against the Russians in the Kursk-Kharkov sector gives us blunt warning of the dangers which the allies must surmount during the next few crucial months.

It is, of course, a matter of grave concern that the nazis have bludgeoned their way 120 miles eastward to the Don river, thus threatening the gateway to the Caucasus. But this great advance, which carries the invaders fifty miles deeper into soviet territory than they got in their all-out drive last year, should cause neither surprise nor despair.

Hitler is flinging one million men—a colossal force—against the Bolshevik positions in the valley of the upper Don. He is making a wholesale sacrifice of life in an effort to wash out his past failures with the blood of Germany's youth.

Now when you get that much pressure, and that kind of pressure, thrown against any battle line, something has to break. Man for man the Russians probably are better fighters than the Germans, but there's no such thing as an invincible super-man. We must expect Russian reverses during the furious fighting which is ahead of us, and it's best that we adjust ourselves to that viewpoint. This recognition of facts shouldn't blunt our belief that the allies will keep Hitler out of the Caucasus and

New Committee of Defense Council Is Headed by Mendota

Springfield, Ill., July 7.—(AP)—Governor Green's office today announced the appointment of eight persons to a State Defense Council committee on youth and welfare to supervise juvenile delinquency prevention programs during war-time.

B. Harry Reck of Mendota, former La Salle county judge, was named chairman and Samuel R. Ryerson, superintendent of the state division for delinquency prevention, was appointed vice chairman and executive director.

Other members are Dr. Julius Hess of Chicago, head of the University of Illinois medical school pediatrics department; County Judge Harlington Wood of Springfield; Mrs. Jessie Scofield of Peoria, member of the advisory board of the state delinquency prevention division; William A. Lewis, executive secretary of the Chicago Allied Printing Trades Council; Dr. R. W. Fairchild, president of the Illinois State Normal University; and Director Rodney H. Brandon of the state Public Welfare department.

These Gobs Have One Wish: That They Can Get Back on a Lexington II

Chicago, July 7.—(AP)—Seventy-three gobs—including ten Illinois boys—who served on the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Lexington which sank in the Coral Sea waters have but one wish: That they get back to sea on a "Lexington II."

The sailors, who began an intensive study in Diesel engines at the Navy Pier yesterday, were asked by an officer if they wanted duty again on a carrier. They roared "yes," pulled off their hats and stamped on the deck of Navy Pier.

Raymond J. Toth, 22, of Westville, Ill., said "that was my second ship. I lost one at Pearl Harbor."

Toth, a former Westville high school swimming team member, related how after burning his hands sliding down 30 feet from

New Facilities to Use Grain Source for Rubber Urged

Iowa Senator Insists Months Can Be Saved by Such Program

Washington, July 7.—(AP)—Contending that months could be saved, Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) proposed today that the government cancel some of its contracts for plants to produce synthetic rubber from petroleum and build new facilities for production from grain.

Gillette made this suggestion after hearing testimony by Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board that the need for copper and other vital materials precluded the construction of new grain alcohol plants at this time.

Gillette told reporters that if this condition existed, there was all the more reason why the government should shift its emphasis away from the petroleum source to what he said was the more simplified procedure of producing

Plans Probe of Army War Show

Pittsburgh, July 7.—(AP)—Rep. Samuel A. Weiss (D-Pa.) said today he intended sponsoring a congressional resolution calling for an investigation of Army War Show, Inc., and its contracts "throughout the country."

Weiss, in a statement, criticized the sale of Japanese-made canes at the Army war show here Sunday night, which caused protests among the 65,000 spectators and resulted in the firing of 11 civilian hawkers yesterday. Police were ordered to burn the canes, which were the staffs of pennants inscribed "Army War Show."

The congressman said: "We buy bonds and stamps in order to buy planes, tanks, and shells to lick the enemy. At the same time, we buy canes and souvenirs made in Japan to help the enemy."

"This does not make sense and an investigation will at least prevent a recurrence. x x x

"I also read of the kind of contracts awarded by the Army leadership in control of Army War Show, Inc., and I was amazed to learn that the concessionaires kept 70 per cent of the proceeds of souvenir sales and in addition received a 20 per cent rake-off on programs donated by the Bell Telephone Company and sold by Boy Scouts without pay."

"This is outrageous, especially when advertisements clearly state that 'every cent is turned over to Army relief.'"

China Appeals for More Aid at Start of 6th Year of War

Enormous Japanese Casualties Claimed by Chiang-Kai-Shek

Chungking, July 7.—(AP)—The Japanese have suffered casualties of 1,000,000 dead and 1,500,000 wounded in five years of war in China, an army spokesman said today as the embattled Chinese went into the sixth year of their war, cheered by the blows struck recently by United States air forces against the Japanese invader.

The Chinese in addition have taken 29,924 prisoners during this five-year period in which fourteen major engagements and 10,375 minor engagements were fought, the spokesman said. He estimated that 900,000 Japanese troops were on duty in China and that the Japanese could put 1,000 planes into the air.

The five years of war in China, the spokesman said, have cost the Japanese 2,504 planes.

(In Tokyo, the Imperial headquarters claimed that the Japanese had inflicted more than 5,000,000 casualties on the Chinese in dead, wounded and missing, including 2,338,000 dead. The announcement said 111,111 Japanese have been killed in China.)

Meetings, Parades, Sports
Throughout China, the start of the sixth year of war was marked with mass meetings, parades and sporting events. Presents were distributed to Chinese soldiers wherever possible. In Chungking, free shows were given for soldiers and policemen, and restaurants and shops reduced their prices for the occasion.

Chinese speakers everywhere reaffirmed the nation's determination to drive the Japanese from Chinese soil.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, who last night told his people in a broadcast that "China no longer stands alone" and "the collapse of the enemy will be apparent" in the near future, spent the day reading dispatches from the front and performing his usual military duties as he has for the last five years.

Ill. Plans Windup for Rubber Drive

Chicago, July 7.—(AP)—Standing third among the states and topped only by California and Texas to date in the collection of used rubber for national scrap, Illinois today planned an intensive windup for the final three days of the campaign.

The Illinois collection, through July 3, totaled 17,500 tons or about 4.6 pounds per capita.

State Salvage Director Nathaniel Leverone said some downtown business firms projected half-holidays, probably on Friday, to be devoted solely to collection of rubber scrap, and that householders and industries in Chicago were expected to make a final combing for contributions.

W. Homer Hartz, salvage chairman for the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, active in the rubber campaign, said Illinois industries had also turned in 311,497.377 pounds of iron and steel scrap in June, trebling the May figure.

Murder and Suicide Are Verdicts of Jury

Carbondale, Ill., July 7.—(AP)—Verdicts of murder and suicide were returned by a coroner's jury last night after an investigation of the deaths of Miss Myrtle Mathis, 30, and Jasper S. Hood, 44. Witnesses testified Miss Mathis was slain Sunday when Hood fired three shots at her as she left a rooming house where they had been living. Hood married and the father of a family, then turned the gun upon himself. Both bodies were taken to Metropolis, Ill., their former home, and funeral services were to be conducted today.

Proclamation

The United States Navy has appealed directly to the people of our city for the loan of binoculars meeting Navy requirements for the duration of the war.

In four and a half months only 1,654 sets of these instruments have been received from all over the country. This number is but a fraction of what the Navy needs. Binoculars are a necessity on the fighting ships of our Navy. Lookouts use them to keep a constant vigil for enemy ships, planes and submarines. The lives of our sailors, marines, and transports of soldiers depend on them.

Two types of instruments are accepted by the Navy. They are Bausch & Lomb or Carl Zeiss, size 6x30 or 7x50. If you have a pair of these, tag them with your name and address, wrap them carefully and send them to the Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C. They will be returned after the war, if possible.

Look in your attic, safety deposit box, closets... find that pair that have been gathering dust and put them to the best use you put, your sons, and your Navy.

William V. Slothower, Mayor.

Hundred Portable Radios Sought for Camp Grant Men

The Camp and Hospital Service Council at Camp Grant, of which the local Red Cross chapter is represented by Josephine Nichols and Mrs. H. U. Bardwell, is attempting to locate and procure one hundred portable radios for the day rooms at Camp Grant. Perhaps some reader has an extra one in his home that can be spared. In case minor repairs are necessary to put the radio in working condition, the Camp and Hospital Council will furnish the necessary parts such as tubes, etc., and the Special Service Branch under the direction of Major Frank Bush has radio technicians available who will put the machines in working order. In case any one has a radio to donate or knows of a radio that might be available, please call Y699 and arrangements will be made to pick it up.

The Camp and Hospital Council is very desirous of getting coat hangers for the servicemen at Camp Grant. The Red Cross, through the Junior Workers have already supplied several thousand; however, many more can be used if available. Readers are asked to look around and in case they have a few to spare see that they are turned over to Josephine Nichols.

Although the servicemen are very well fed, each still has a sweet tooth, and no home made article of food is quite as welcome as a cookie. The local chapter is attempting to furnish cookies in the Camp on one day in each month. In case you are willing to donate a batch, please call Mrs. R. E. Worsley, 1219, by July 14 and she will see that they reach Camp Grant, Wednesday, July 15.

Little Damage in Jap Raid on Port Moresby

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, July 7.—(AP)—The Japanese hammered at Port Moresby, advanced allied base in New Guinea, again yesterday. General MacArthur's headquarters said today but allied fighter planes went up to challenge the 20 Japanese bombers and their escorting planes and prevented them from inflicting damage. Sunday, the Japanese sent 33 planes to raid the base.

Several of the Japanese bombers in yesterday's raid were hit by machinegun fire and one of the allied planes was lost, a communique said.

An allied air unit meanwhile made a light raid on Tulagi, in the Solomon islands, with a group of buildings as the objective.

Roosevelt Considers Wage Stabilization

Washington, July 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was reported today to be considering anew some form of wage stabilization, and subsidies in order to maintain price ceilings near their present level.

Informed congressional sources said he had advised some of his congressional leaders that both problems should be attacked as soon as possible, but that it was not apparent whether specific legislation would be required.

Leon Henderson, price administrator, said only last week that it would be necessary to lift the ceilings on canned and dried fruit of the 1942 pack because of the "squeeze" between rising prices of farm products and the stationary level of wholesale and retail prices.

Government Begins Roundup of Heads of Bund Societies

Denaturalization Proceedings Are Planned Against Several

New York, July 7.—(AP)—A smashing blow at the German-American Bund involving 57 of its highest officers and active members over the nation was begun today by federal agents on newly returned indictments charging conspiracy to evade national defense regulations.

Twenty-six were named in indictments charging conspiracy to evade the selective service act and conspiracy to counsel Bund members to resist service in the armed forces of the United States and of conspiracy to conceal Bund affiliations in filling out alien registration forms. Three more were accused of all but selective service violation.

The balance of those sought—among them national and sectional officials and principal leaders of the Bund—were the object of denaturalization proceedings.

"We intend to put the Bund out of business," said United States Attorney Mathias Correa. Fritz Kuhn, former national Bund leader now in prison, and Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, a sub-national Bund chieftain arrested recently in Mexico and returned to this country yesterday, were involved in the federal proceedings.

Denaturalization Actions
Denaturalization proceedings were instituted against Kuhn, serving a term for larceny, and Kunze was charged with evasion of the selective service act, a charge upon which he was held in $50,000 bail yesterday. Kunze is wanted also in Hartford, Conn., to answer a federal charge of violation of the 1917 espionage act.

Nominally defunct since the outbreak of the war between the United States and Germany, the Bund was charged in the indictments with continuing certain acts which Correa said confirmed a belief that the Bund was operating with underground tactics.

Correa said that numerous singing societies in the Yorkville section

Berlin Claims Big U. S. Cruiser Sunk

Berlin (From German Broadcasts), July 7.—(AP)—The Germans today claimed the sinking of an American heavy cruiser and 28 merchantment out of a convoy in Arctic waters between Spitsbergen and the Norwegian North Cape.

(There was no confirmation of the German claim from any other sources. In the last previous big Arctic convoy battle the Germans said they sank 18 allied ships, when actually six were sunk.)

A special announcement from Hitler's headquarters today said the convoy consisted of 38 merchant ships carrying planes, tanks, ammunition and food supplies bound for Archangel with a heavy escort of allied warships.

The attacks upon the convoy started on July 2 in Arctic waters 300 to 400 miles off the North Norwegian coast. The convoy escort was said by the Germans to have included battleships, cruisers, destroyers and corvettes.

In close co-operation, German submarines and air formations sank a heavy American cruiser and 19 merchantment totalling 122,000 tons," the announcement said. "Submarines sank nine ships totalling 70,400, making a grand total of 28 ships of 192,400 tons."

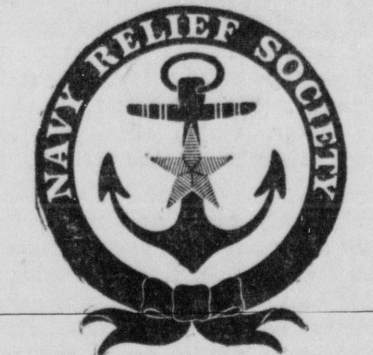

"The remaining vessels were dispersed. The battle still is going on."

"German Red Cross planes rescued a number of American sailors."

Detroit Judge Admits Case of Jos. Ehasz Is Puzzler; Refers It to U. S.

Detroit, July 7.—(AP)—Joseph W. Ehasz, 27, of Washington, Pa., presented a problem which Recorder Judge John J. Maher admitted neither he nor a Solomon could solve—but maybe Uncle Sam could.

Ehasz was charged with bigamy, and the facts admittedly were peculiar. The defendant was a worker in a war plant. When tires were plentiful, he drove his car to work, and spent evenings at home with his brunette wife Rosylena, never meeting such comely blondes as Mary Jane MacDonald, encountered in a street car which replaced the family car as transportation. But he did meet Mary Jane, "and, Judge, I found myself liking her," he told the court.

Contributions to the $1,000 quota which Dixonites have been asked to donate to the Navy Relief Society to care for dependents of Uncle Sam's sailors who die or are injured in the line of duty, totalled $78 at noon today. Contributions can be left at either of the Dixon banks or at the Evening Telegraph office. Donations at noon were:

Practice Dousing Lights Through Illinois Planned

Chicago, July 7.—(AP)—State defense council officials said today plans for practice blackouts in Illinois called for three sectional dousing of lights in southern, central and northern counties, spaced about two weeks apart. Issuance of advance orders awaits perfection of details with army authorities and dates for the practices have not yet been fixed, the council said.

SPRINGFIELD TEST

Springfield, Ill., July 7.—(AP)—Illinois state house and four other buildings in the capitol group were "blackout" in one and a half minutes last night in an air raid test but wardens expressed disappointment with the warning whistle mounted on the state power plant.

The wailing of the siren, newly installed atop the state power plant, across the street from the capitol, was the signal for the blackout which was Springfield's first experience with wartime air raid control.

The high pitched whistle deafened those near the statehouse but was inaudible in some sections a few blocks away, officials reported.

One Light Burned

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes turned on the steam-operated siren, while Mayor John W. Kapp and civilian defense officials observed the effectiveness of the blackout embracing the armory, centennial and archives building in addition to the statehouse itself.

Air raid wardens recruited from among state employees were stationed throughout the buildings, while city raid wardens were at posts in outlying sections of the city to check on the audibility of the sirens designed to be heard at distances of from four to six miles.

Rape Charge Appealed to Ill. Supreme Court

Springfield, Ill., July 7.—(AP)—Frank R. Myers, 19-year-old Belvidere youth who was sentenced to one to 10 years in prison on a charge of raping a 17-year-old girl, appealed to the Illinois Supreme court today to review his conviction in Boone county Circuit court.

Myers' counsel in the appeal charged that the Circuit court admitted improper evidence at the trial and made "prejudicial remarks in the presence of the jury." The appeal also declared that Myers "was intoxicated to such an extent that he was incapable of entertaining the criminal intent" charged by the state.

Nazi Army Breaks Through Russians' Line at Voronezh

Capture Important City on Moscow-Rostov Ry.; Other War News

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies, exploiting a swift 120-mile breakthrough, appeared to have cut direct communications between Russia's northern and southern armies in a grave turn of events in the soviet campaign today, while in Egypt the British reported they had bent the axis southern flank back to the west for a third successive setback.

A bulletin from British Imperial headquarters said Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck's 8th army, bolstered by fresh troops and big American tanks, "continued their pressure on the enemy, who extended his southern flank to the west."

This evidently meant that Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel had been forced to weaken his forward line, within 70 miles of the great Alexandria naval base, and a protecting or "extended" wall against British flying columns hacking at his flanks.

"Our battle groups engaged and dispersed several small enemy columns," British headquarters said, while front-line dispatches indicated that Gen. Rommel's weary troops were refusing battle.

A German communique asserted tersely that "in the fight for El Alamein, several enemy counterattacks supported by tanks failed."

Nazis Take Rail Center

On the soviet front, Hitler's field headquarters reported, tanked Nazi troops had captured the important city of Voronezh, on the Moscow-Rostov railroad, which is the principal rail communication between the Red armies of the north and south.

While the Germans lunged across the upper Don, a Vichy broadcast reported that Marshal Simeon Timoshenko's armies had opened a violent counter-offensive at Izyum and Kupiansk, on the southern flank of the Ukraine battlefield, and had driven the nazis back across the Krasnaya river.

The goal of this drive would be to imperil the German flank and possibly bring about the collapse of the farthest Nazi sweep to Voronezh.

Simultaneously, the Nazi-controlled Paris radio asserted that the Germans are advancing from Voronezh in the direction of Porovino, 140 miles east of Voronezh. Voronezh, a city of 212,000 population, lies 10 miles east of the Don

Few Motorists Know Tire Serial Numbers

Chicago, July 8.—(AP)—A special detail of 164 policemen headed by Capt. George Teeling of the stolen automobile section strove today to check a sharp rise in thefts of automobile tires in Chicago.

There were 707 reports of tire thefts in June, nearly double the previous high number in March.

Capt. Teeling said most of what the police hoped to achieve in recoveries and arrests was being delayed by lack of suitable precautions on the part of motorists. He made these suggestions:

Keep a record of the serial numbers of your tires. Do not buy tires from anyone who will not furnish a bill of sale. Keep the trunk key separate from the ignition key so it will not fall readily into the hands of thieves. Brand your tires with your initials.

In Chicago in the last six months, he said, only 20 per cent of the motorists reporting tire thefts were able to give police the serial numbers.

New Defense Weapon Devised by Britain

London, July 7.—(AP)—Wire-trailing rockets were disclosed officially today as one of Britain's newest weapons of defense against aerial raiders. The weapon, which has been in use to protect merchant ships for more than a year, was described as an apparatus which shoots a projectile that opens into a parachute from which long wires dangle. The rockets, fired up as planes swoop to attack, often force them to veer off course or risk entanglement in the wires.

Of Interest to Farmers

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

The Army bought 12 million pounds of dried eggs the other day—a year's work for 4 million hens.

These eggs are to be packed in 3-pound containers, which means they will be used in the field. And the field today may be any place from Australia to England or Egypt to Alaska.

Getting troops to the various fronts is only the beginning of the problem. Then it's a matter of keeping them supplied not only with war materials but also with food. And, with the shortage of shipping space, that's no small job.

There are several ways to attack this shipping problem: Sink more submarines, build more ships, or make one or two ships do the work of five.

That last method is the one with which the food industry is particularly concerned. Most foods contain a large amount of water and, as short of shipping space as we are, nothing could be more foolish than to ship water thousands of miles to Australia or England or Egypt or Russia. Dried Foods Take Less Space. So we're dehydrating foods—taking the water out of them—and getting the actual food in a fraction of the space it would take if it were shipped fresh.

All the food in a 30-dozen case of eggs, for example, can be packed into a 10-pound package. And a new process, developed for drying beef that has been ground and cooked, makes it possible to reduce 4 pounds of fresh meat to 1 pound. The food is there, but the water, which accounted for three fourths of the weight, is gone!

Not only eggs and meat, but milk and fruits and vegetables are being dried. Just last evening I read in the paper about rows of bottles on a laboratory shelf "filled with white, green, red and pink slices of coarse powders that when doused with plain water, become Irish or sweet potatoes, spinach, cabbage, beets, carrots or onions."

Entire Dinners Dried

Last week the papers carried pictures of Army officers enjoying an entire dinner of dehydrated foods. And I mean enjoying.

Because it's possible to ship food in dried form, the boys in England and Egypt get scrambled eggs and bacon for breakfast; vegetable soup, beef, mashed potatoes and apple pie for dinner.

That's American fighting food! It's going not only to our own men but to our allies under lend-lease agreements. English women are beginning to find on their grocers' shelves 5-ounce packages of egg powder, equal to a dozen eggs in the shell and marked with the U. S. A. food label.

One newspaper writer speculates on the results of "bombing" France with food and on the possibilities in dehydrated foods after the war, envisioning them as "almost boundless."

Col. Paul Logan of the Quartermaster Corps has cautioned food processors that the general public's acceptance of dried foods after the war will depend largely on whether the soldiers find them satisfactory.

The time may come when a package of egg powder will be on every pantry shelf!

Hackberry, American elm, sugar maple, linden, green ash and sycamore are a few of the many trees that can be transplanted from your own farm this fall. By tying a "string around your tree" now you will not have to worry about identification this fall after the leaves have dropped.

FOOD FARM defense FACTS

FOOD SUPPLY

The outlook for 1942-43 is that there will be plenty of food in total supply, but with possible shortages of some items as increasing quantities of vital foods go to war fronts and our allies. Milk continues to flow in high tide, eggs to be abundantly available, and fresh vegetables to roll heavily to market. But the big 1942 crop-growing season is only well started, no line will be had on the big feed crops for another month or more, and the same is true of the oil crops. There is never a year when supplies of the hundreds of different foods are in balance with demand, and this year is no exception. This year there is an additional unbalancing factor of extraordinary wartime demand requiring production and processing of the biggest possible volume of concentrated foods—requiring virtually a change over in many parts of our farm plant, similar to the changeover in industry, from civilian to military goods.

Vegetables are relative newcomers to the food dehydrating industry but they are showing signs of going places. Almost 1,600,000 pounds of dehydrated vegetables have been purchased for Lend-Lease shipment, the list including beets, cabbage, carrots, onions, potatoes, spinach, turnips, and julienne or mixed vegetables. It is estimated unofficially that the total capacity of existing vegetable dehydration plants in 1941 was about 15 million pounds. Plans are being made to produce more. More than 6 million pounds of dehydrated soup has been bought for Lend-Lease, together with over a half million pounds of dehydrated tomato soup flakes. To May 1 the government had bought beans totalling 327 million pounds; peas, 37 million; prunes, 270 million; raisins, 110 million; apples, 17 million and pears, 7 million. It looks as if more food and less water will be shipped to our soldiers and allies.

Clover Comparable to Alfalfa as Hay

Peoria, Ill. — Red clover hay on the Mulvaney farm in Peoria county was found to contain 295 pounds of protein in a ton of hay, while a ton of alfalfa hay contained 375 pounds.

The red clover, on the other hand, was slightly higher in mineral content, as it contained 84 pounds a ton compared with 74 pounds in the alfalfa. The minerals were phosphorus, potassium, calcium, magnesium, iron and manganese.

Both crops were grown on land which had been previously limed and phosphated, explained H. J. Snider, soils specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Soda and Salt is excellent for cleaning the teeth.

Tankage May Be Replaced by Soy Meal in Pig Diet

Soybean meal may safely be used to replace the usual tankage or meat scraps in summer rations for early spring pigs, according to E. T. Robbins, extension livestock specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Soybean meal is the product from which the oil has been removed, and it does not produce soft pork as do the unprocessed soybeans. Even when it has been the sole source of supplementary protein in rations for pigs from weaning to marketing, soybean meal protein has proved equal to tankage protein.

In summer when pigs are on pasture, there is very little likelihood of a mineral deficiency in the diet of the soybean-meal-fed pigs, provided they are fed additional minerals.

Experimental pigs were fed a mixture of two parts bone meal and one part salt. The usual mixture is high calcium limestone, bone meal and salt in the proportions of two, two and one, respectively. Farmers have also reported good results from limestone and salt, four to one.

When a ton of tankage costs more than 1 1/3 times as much as a ton of soybean meal, these tests suggest that the meal might profitably replace all the tankage. In other words, so long as soybean meal costs less than three-fourths the price of tankage, it is likely to prove cheaper than tankage as a supplement to corn for growing-fattening pigs.

In Moving Hawthorns, Be Sure Plant Is Young

If you plan to move a native hawthorn from the pasture to the yard, select a young plant as indicated by a small stem and one which shows no signs of grazing by livestock. Very often the native hawthorne has a strong and long lateral root system. One should dig well away from the plant to locate roots. Save as much of the lateral roots as possible and move the tree with a ball of earth in early fall after frost, or in the spring as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

The viburnums include a number of plants which are desirable in landscape plantings. The native black-haw, nanny-berry and maple-leaved viburnum are a few of the native ones that are good for boundary plantings. These and many more are available from nurseries. Although slower than some of the more common shrubs to become established, they will repay your efforts in year-around color and strength of character.

Ogle County Farm Bureau News Notes

About 450 Ogle county farm men and women have been enlisted on the Extension Service home front to give timely information to all farm people in the county, to help them make decisions that will lead to the best use of their resources during the war and that will help them to understand war time economic situations affecting their welfare.

This number includes two leaders, a man and a woman in each of the 200 school districts and a chairman and co-chairman in each of the 25 townships, working under a plan outlined by a county committee of 22 of which the Farm Adviser and Home Adviser are chairman and co-chairman.

The subjects to be dealt with include: causes of inflation and how farmers can help to prevent it, the prevention of farm fires, canning with less sugar, storing and marketing of soybeans. Circulars on these subjects will be distributed and discussed by the leaders in school district meetings to be held this week throughout the county. A series of training meetings for leaders was held last week. The meetings were well attended and the leaders enthusiastic over the program outlined to them by members of the county committee.

A new service to Farm Bureau members will be offered by the Ogle County Farm Bureau this fall when cooperators will be signed up for the Farm Bureau Farm Management service. This is an accounting project more advanced and more in detail than the simple farm account book which many Ogle county farmers are now using. The service will involve the employment of a fieldman who will call on the cooperators three or four times each year to assist them in keeping their records and in modifying their farm practices according to changes that the records may indicate are needed to make the farms most profitable.

The project will involve seven northwestern Illinois counties and will include a total of more than 200 cooperators. The service is sponsored jointly by the University of Illinois and the county Farm Bureaus. Each cooperator will pay an enrollment fee to cover cost of the service.

Mower Check-Ups Save Labor and Time of Farmer

Farmers may not be able to get new mowers for a while to harvest record tonnages of hay such as Illinois has this year, but there are a dozen or more things that can be done to keep old mowers running, according to R. I. Shawl, agricultural engineer of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

His tips for check-ups which may avoid breakdowns in the midst of harvesting and consequent waste of time and labor are:

"Before using the mower again, jack up one of the wheels and try it out by hand. If everything is operating properly, cut a little of some crop as a test. Stop at once if the mower doesn't run freely. Heating of any part is indication that lubrication or adjustment is needed.

"See that the knife cuts clean and even without choking and that the grass stick is adjusted to leave a clean path.

"Keep all assembly bar parts securely faster would clog cause delay. When the machine is ed on sandy soil, should be done with the parts come in contact the soil.

"Stop immediately after running into rocks and stumps. Replace broken knife sections, straighten bent guards, reset any knife clip that fails to hold the knife lightly in the guard and restore the original lift to any bent guard lip to prevent clogging of the cutter-bar.

"Each time a knife is changed, inspect it for straightness to forestall binding and undue wear.

"If there is indication of excessive draft or side draft, it may be caused by dragging grass not being cut by the sickle, the cutter bar dragging, lack of lubrication or non-alignment of the cutter bar."

Truck owners can save considerable rubber by seeing that dual tires are properly mated. Mismatched duals distribute the load unevenly and result in uncommonly rapid wear.

FARMERS

Are Urged to Enter

ALLIS CHALMER'S GREAT 'WIN THE WAR' Bond Contest

RULES OF CONTEST

1. Write 100 words, or less, on "Why Farmers Should Buy War Savings Bonds."
2. Contest is open to anyone living on or operating a farm, except (a) Employees of the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Company and their families, and (b) Allis-Chalmers dealers, their employees, and families.
3. Each contestant MUST include the Serial Number of a U. S. War Savings Bond registered in his or her name. THIS IS IMPORTANT. Failure to do this will automatically disqualify the entry. Letter must be signed by the same person in whose name the bond is registered.
4. Each contestant may submit one letter for each $25 worth of bonds owned (Maturity value). For example, ownership of one $100 bond entitles contestant to submit four letters using the SAME serial Number on each entry. Ownership of four $25 bonds entitles contestant to submit four letters, each bearing a different serial number.
5. Letters will be judged on the basis of sincerity and the value of ideas expressed . . . NOT on literary style.
6. All letters become the property of the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Company and the U. S. Treasury Department. No entries returned.
7. Whether you win or not, Allis-Chalmers and the U. S. Treasury Department reserve the right to use your letter, on the radio or elsewhere, to promote the sale of War bonds.
8. Judges will be named by the U. S. Treasury Department. Their decision will be final.
9. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of a tie.
10. All letters must be mailed to Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Company, Tractor Division, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
11. Contest closes at midnight September 15, 1942. All entries must be postmarked not later than September 15, 1942.

A Thought for Today

Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour.—I Peter 5:8.

The infernal serpent; he it was whose guile, stirred up with envy and revenge, deceived the mother of mankind.—Milton.

Write 'em a Letter

A soldier is a fellow who has been taken away from his home, popped into a uniform, placed among unwonted surroundings and mixed with hundreds of men he never saw before. He knows he has an important task to perform and he is determined to do it—but everything is new and strange.

If you have a son in the army you, of course, are writing to him frequently. If he writes often to your brother, too, or your dad, if he is in the service—and to your husband likewise.

But it would add to the cheerfulness of service men if they could hear from people who are just friends, or cousins, or neighbors, or employees. And if you have a former boss in the service, send him a word of news about the old home town.

While we are at it, we may as well suggest that you do not expect too many detailed and prompt answers. The idea is to help maintain the soldiers' morale—not to carry on precisely reciprocal correspondence.

Slogans Will Win

Food will win the war. Songs will win the war. Airpower will win the war. Slogans will win the war.

Well, why not? None of these alone, but all together. We do need pepping up. "Over There" and "Tipperary" helped a lot in 1918. So did "Let's make the world safe for democracy."

No topnotch song has come yet in this war, but many good enough slogans are popping up. Contests in some 300 plants produced a few quotable industrial adjectives such, for example, as American Steel and Wire's "Speed the wheels to beat the heels"; or Western Electric's "T. N. T.—Today, not tomorrow." "Speed 'em for freedom," advised Curtiss-Wright.

Next, can somebody coin an overall catchphrase that will have the punch of World War I's "The Yanks are coming"? Or how about just keeping the same one?

Crop Threat

From New York State comes the plaint that, unless workers are found, a record crop—50 million dollars worth of fruits and vegetables—will rot on the trees and in the fields.

On the same day that brought that warning

BY BLANCHE ROBERTS

"MENTAL CASE"

CHAPTER XI

FOR a moment the cabin of the schooner was deathly quiet. Then Burke spoke.

"Let go of her!" he said from between closed teeth. "Take your dirty hands off her!"

"So you have decided to tell us things about the bomber?" prompted Karl, grinning with victory but retaining his hold on Judith.

"He is not," Judith cut in. "Do what you like but he's not talking. He is not selling American defense for my sake." She turned her eyes on Burke. "Don't say anything, Tom."

Then the forefinger slapped her. The blow staggered her and she reeled back against the wall.

"Stop it!" roared Tom, and broke loose from Heavy's grasp. He could not do much, tied as he was, but he made a lunge for Karl. The force of his body knocked the man over and broke the hold on Judith.

While she scrambled to get Burke under control, Judith dashed up the cabin steps. One of the men yelled and sprang after her, but she did not pause. She was just one jump ahead of the man as she reached the rail. His hands grabbed at her as she plunged overboard. The cold splash of water took her breath away for an instant.

When no shot followed her, she thought, "They're sure I will drown. Maybe I will."

But with determination she started swimming for the lighted horizon. She would not let herself think of Tom back there in the schooner. If she could reach shore she could summon help.

Just then the clouds and fog lifted for a few minutes and the moon came out brightly. She saw that she was not so far from a cove. If only she could reach it without being tossed against the rocks!

A swell rose, tossing her over and under as it broke into a white foam. When she came out of it, spitting water, another one caught her and bounced her around like a grain of sand. But it carried her a little nearer the cove.

A blackness settled over her as she felt herself go down and down.

JUDITH moved, groaned and slowly opened her eyes. She saw a blue sky overhead. She sat up and looked about in bewilderment. She was in a little cove protected by rock on three sides, the pounding ocean on the other. The tide was out; when it came in, she might be swept out to sea again. The thought brought her instantly to her feet.

Shivering with her damp clothes and the biting air, she set out to scale the rocky wall. Sharp rocks bit at her hands and brought blood. Her long fingernails broke like paper. Her shoes were gone and her clothes were in rags. But tugging, pulling, slipping, she finally reached the top of the cliff.

She sought to pierce the heavy fog blowing in from sea. As she was about to turn away, the fog suddenly thinned and she saw a number of pleasure boats anchored down the coast, but she had no idea which one she had escaped from. And now was not the time to ponder. She had to get to the authorities and find help for Tom.

She turned and started away, fighting the nausea in the pit of her stomach. The going was slow and the rough earth bruised her feet. Again and again she fell, rose wearily to her feet and stumbled on.

At last she reached a lettuce farm and went up to the little house. There she collapsed on the doorstep. A Chinaman came hurrying out to stare at her. Her throat was so dry she couldn't talk until he handed her a drink of water.

"Can you take me to town?" she managed to ask in a week whisper.

"Me no gottie car, la-dee," he sang, and lifted her hands helplessly.

"A wagon?" she suggested hopefully.

He shook his head. "No gottie." But he pointed to a mule, and there was a happy smile on his face.

"Me fixy," he told her.

Judith leaned her head against the post of the porch and tears dimmed her blue eyes. "How am I to ride a mule?" she wondered.

"But I have to."

The old man was gone a long time down at the barn. When he did return Judith's lips slowly parted in amazement.

The mule was harnessed to the barn door. The Chinaman was grinning broadly. Judith laughed despite her misery.

"COME along, la-dee," he called, and stopped for her.

Judith stepped on the sled but decided quickly she had better sit down. She was skinned and bleeding. Her once beautiful curls were matted and she was dirty. She looked worse than a tramp.

The town they reached hours later was hardly more than a wide spot in the road. The Chinaman from a federal agency, there arrived from the same agency under separate cover information that in New York city unemployment among needle trades is reaching abnormal proportions.

The farmers need four thousand field hands between now and September. Almost 90,000 garment workers are unemployed.

The United States Employment Service, which reports both troubles, says there is no idea of feeding the farms from New York's needle workers. Conceding that a relatively small proportion might make good field hands, certainly one out of 20 could help a little.

Rubber Scrap

It is vital that the public, from factory owner to smallest householder, co-operate fully and promptly with President Roosevelt's scrap rubber salvage drive.

Estimates as to the quantity of recoverable rubber range from a conservative and believable half million tons to the apparently fantastic guess of 10 million tons—500 pounds a person. If whatever exists is to be utilized now, while we need it most, we must measure the supply accurately at once. Only by complete public co-operation can this be done. But the public should keep firmly in mind that this rubber is not for tires for pleasure driving. We need it to win the war.

No Hitler Justice

"We want no Hitler justice here," says Associate Justice Byrnes of the Supreme Court. "We want no trial by ax men instead of juries. We know the meaning of equal justice under the law. We know the blessings of liberty. To preserve these we will give our all."

This, from a high source of sound liberality and unquestionable patriotism, is a plea against condemning nationality groups as such, against persecuting loyal citizens because they or their fathers changed to be born in some country now at war with us. It is hard advice to take, but good, so long as we do not permit termites to destroy those very freedoms.

The Navy Goes Modern

The decision to drop plans for 60,000-ton super-dreadnaughts in favor of more aircraft carriers will meet with almost universal popular approval.

We have reached the point of winning a great sea battle in which rival ships never came within gun range of one another. All results were achieved by planes, a large proportion land based. It has been demonstrated, over and over, that an invading fleet can be broken up by land based planes—preferably plus carrier craft—better than by other ships.

We can't afford to continue with old-fashioned methods in this war. The Navy is to be congratulated on its decision.

Plan Vacations

The Office of Defense Transportation is pleading with both employers and workers to plan their vacations so as to place a minimum of strain upon the over-burdened railroads, particularly by avoiding weekend beginnings and endings.

This would seem to be about as little as those who will take vacations can do to help relieve a dangerous bottleneck. Yet there has appeared to be little response to the suggestion. How about some co-operation?

Bridge playing discourages conversation—but, like golf, often improves the vocabulary.

Hold Everything

"When do you think you'll get around to that furlough you promised me, Captain?"

Deaths

ROBT. T. FISHER

Newton, Mass., July 7.—(AP)—Robert T. "Bob" Fisher, head coach of football at Harvard University during the decade following the first World War, died today at the Newton hospital after a heart attack.

Fisher, who was 53 years old, was a grad pupil of Percy Houghton, famed in Harvard coaching history, and he coached the only Harvard eleven ever to play in the Rose Bowl. That was in 1920 when Harvard defeated Oregon, 7 to 6.

While an undergraduate, Fisher played guard on the Crimson team and was twice chosen—in 1910 and 1911—a member of the late Walter Camp's All-America teams. He took over the Harvard coaching berth in 1919.

In business life, Fisher was manager of Boston office of Spencer, Trask & Company, an investment house.

He leaves three sons, Robert T. Jr., and William O. and John W., all of whom have been active in Harvard sports.

DANIEL WILLARD

Baltimore, July 7.—(AP)—Death has ended the long railroad career of Daniel Willard, who began as a track laborer and climbed to the presidency and board chairmanship of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. He was 81.

"Uncle Dan," as he was familiarly known throughout the B. & O. system, had been seriously ill of heart trouble since May 21, when he was taken to the Union Memorial hospital. He died there last night.

For three decades president of the B. & O., Willard retired from that position last year in favor of Roy Barton White of Western Union and became the first board chairman of the railroad. He had the longest tenure of any president in B. & O.'s 115-year history.

Willard began his 62 years of railroading at North Hartland, Vt., where he was born on a farm Jan. 28, 1861. During the last year he had curtailed his activities because of failing health.

Surviving are his widow; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Daniel Willard, Jr.; and four grandchildren. Both sons are dead.

JESSE S. REEVES

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 7.—(AP)—Jesse S. Reeves, 70, University of Michigan professor of international law and one of the world's foremost authorities in his field, died here today.

Born in Richmond, Ind., Jan. 27, 1872, Reeves was admitted to the bar in 1897 and practiced law in Richmond for the next 10 years.

He lectured in political science at Johns Hopkins University from 1905-06, was assistant professor at Dartmouth from 1907-10, and joined the University of Michigan faculty as a full professor in 1910.

He served the Hague Conference in 1930 as technical advisor in the codification of international law.

Author of many books which still serve as texts for international law, Reeves was educated at Kenyon and Amherst colleges and held honorary degrees from Williams and Johns Hopkins.

Oregon Church Plans Annual Picnic July 26

The Rev. Fr. A. M. Kreckel of St. Mary's Catholic church at Oregon today announced plans for the annual parish picnic to be held at Shepherd's park on state highway, route 2 between Oregon and Byron on Sunday, July 26.

United States Senator C. Wayland Brooks and Hon. John Gutknecht, Municipal court judge, both of Chicago, will be speakers. Both are outstanding personalities, well known throughout northern Illinois and their presence should attract a capacity gathering. The appearance of Senator Brooks on this occasion may be one of the very few appearances he will be able to make in this section of the state this year.

The general public is invited to attend this annual outing of St. Mary's parish and to enjoy the excellent program that has been arranged by the Rev. Fr. Kreckel and his committee. The picnic starts Saturday evening, July 25 with a public dancing party and will continue all day Sunday, July 26.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, July 6.—Japan is doing all the obvious things preparatory to an attack on Russia. Her naval press chief, Capt. Ogawa, has broadcast around the world an immodest warning of "a huge offensive" to come.

More and more troops and equipment are being filtered into Manchuria.

And now, no less important, comes evidence that the Japs are fortifying those Aleutian islands of Attu, Agattu and Kiska as submarine bases, which could mean only the same thing—that they intend to prey on our Pacific supply line to Russia and isolate the nearby port of Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula, the only sizeable harbor in Siberia aside from Vladivostok.

Those three rocks of Attu, Agattu and Kiska could mean nothing to Japan unless she intended to make war on Russia. No air fields could be established on them, and even carrier-based planes there must constantly fight fog.

Consequently, many American news readers have been inclined to over-estimate their importance, some indeed suspecting their occupation is a first step toward conquest of Alaska or invasion of our Pacific coast. Those suppositions seem fantastic.

But these three islands would have a real live military value as sub bases, in case Japan intends to break up Russian trade. No one, except the Russians, of course, has any trade in that part of the world.

Price Fixer Leon Henderson was squeezed into making what he called the first break in the price ceilings, raising prices on a number of fruits and vegetables.

As a matter of fact it was not the first break. A few weeks before Henderson raised the price of canned citrus fruits.

Certain powerful administration senators, including Pepper of Florida and Connally of Texas, steamed into Henderson's division with protests and got their way.

This time, however, the inner pressure was stronger and longer. Many vegetable and fruit growers complained their prices did not reflect parity to growers, although the price control law requires this. They went to both Henderson and Agriculture Secretary Wickard.

Even the American Farm Bureau Federation demanded Wickard exert his veto power. When he hesitated, he was threatened with a campaign of opposition in congress.

So finally the farm bureau wrote a letter to Henderson demanding that the prices be raised. Henderson sought a way out. He tried to get congress to pass a subsidy bill providing a bonus to the growers. Congress refused. His appropriation bill was coming up for consideration. He relented.

Landing on those German saboteurs along our shores has not caused grave apprehensions here. Probably more were landed than have been caught, but Britain has been finding rubber boats along her shores constantly during the war, yet has held sabotage to a minimum.

The proof that the situation is well in hand is that little sabotage has been apparent; only major incident in this country since the war started—the Normandie.

While the tax bill does not please anyone, it is not going to be changed much before it is enacted about October 1.

Not many congressmen are really dismayed that the bill fell $2,600,000,000 short of raising Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's goal of $8,600,000,000, at least not sufficiently dismayed to enact a sales tax against treasury opposition. They told Morgenthau they would add the sales tax and hence the revenue, if he would give the word, but he refused.

The bill is called a $6,000,000,000 measure, but that title may give the impression the wrong impression. It will add $6,000,000,000 in taxes to the $18,000,000,000 you are already paying, making $24,000,000,000 in all or about 30 per cent of the national income.

Apparently some information available in Washington is not always complete. I have received the following correction on a recent column from a Texas editor: "I have just made a slight change in one of your paragraphs. Regarding the sugar situation you state:

"A Texas factory said it was going to shut down because it had no storage space left."

"I made it read:

"The huge refinery at Sugarland, Texas, with millions of pounds of unrefined sugar on hand, has been closed down two weeks and will not reopen until July 6, if then. Its great warehouses at Sugarland are filled with refined sugar, while millions of pounds have been shipped to warehouses at Houston and Galveston. Having no outlet for refined sugar the management stated it had no other alternative than to close its plant."

"We printed pictures of the bulging warehouses.

"Meanwhile the berry crop of this vicinity, largest of record, ripened and died on the bushes for lack of sugar. The canning and preserving plant in the neighboring county of Orange did not open for business, because of lack of sugar. Applications for sugar for preserving, made weeks ago, are just going into the hands of the growers—much too late.

"Three weeks ago I made ap-

Funerals

Suburban—MRS. K. K. REIS

The funeral of Mrs. Katherine Reis, 82, of Sublette, who died at the Harris hospital in Mendota Sunday afternoon, will be held at the Otto Stephentich home in Sublette at 2:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, instead of this afternoon as had been planned previously. The Rev. W. Josef Schmidt, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical church will officiate and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Born in Brooklyn township March 7, 1860, she was a resident of that vicinity until Feb. 12, 1885 when she was married in Sublette to Paul Reis. They farmed in Sublette township until his death when she made her home with a son, Homer Reis, in Sublette. He preceded her in death.

Surviving her are two brothers, Adam and Charles Kiyliya, Mendota. A brother, George, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Lentz, preceded her in death.

MRS. GEORGE D. ARNOULD

The funeral of Mrs. George D. Arnold of Sterling, who passed away early Monday morning at the Sterling public hospital, will be held at her late home, 109 Sixth avenue, at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and at the Sterling Christian church at 2:00. The Rev. Claude Cummings will officiate and burial will be in Oak Knoll cemetery.

Mrs. Arnold was born August 9, 1908, at Dixon, the daughter of John E. and Jessie M. Musser. She entered the nurses' training school of the Sterling public hospital in 1927, graduating in 1930. She was supervisor of the first floor for a number of years, resigning January 1, 1941.

She was united in marriage to George G. Arnold, February 8, 1941, in Sterling. Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Jimmie Cleveland, also by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Musser and two sisters, Mrs. Lester Otten of Rock Falls and Mrs. Donald Hoover of Sterling; also by one niece and one nephew.

Dixon Woman Is Installed as State Registrar

Mrs. Etta Baker, member of Dixon circle, No. 73, Ladies of the G. A. R., was formally installed as department registrar by Mrs. Klemka Kaufmann of Freeport, department president, at last evening's meeting of the circle in G. A. R. hall. Mrs. Marie Hettler served as installing conductor for the ritual, witnessed by 50 or more members. The Misses Mabel and Ruth Smith escorted the colors.

Mrs. Florence Onnen has invited the circle to her home for a lawn picnic on Monday evening, July 20. Members and their families are included in the invitation.

Mrs. Sadie Ayres will entertain at her summer cottage, and Mrs. Myrtle Huggins is also to be hostess to the circle, later in the season. A flag will be presented to Arlington cemetery at Elmhurst at 2 p. m. Sunday, with Mrs. Hettler heading the program committee of trustees. Assisting Mrs. Hettler with plans for the program are Mrs. Mamie Giroux and Mrs. Marian Mills of Chicago.

Mrs. Josie Kracht, president of Freeport circle, accompanied Mrs. Kaufmann here last evening. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

RUSTIC GATEWAY IS NEWEST GIFT TO GIRL SCOUT CAMP FROM MRS. JOHN G. RALSTON

An attractive new gate of natural oak at the sand road entrance to Camp John Ralston is the Dixon Girl Scout camp's most recent gift from one of its donors. Mrs. John Ralston, "Camp John Ralston" reads the rustic sign at the left of the gateway. Forty-five new campers from Dixon, Oregon, Princeton and Morris moved in on Sunday afternoon for the second week of the season. Thirty-nine girls occupied the quarters last week.

The Intermediate unit will be making leather purses, weaving baskets, modeling in clay, and enjoying archery this week, having constructed their own kiln for the modeling project. They are also planning one "cook-out", probably a one-dish meal, and are making their own toasters from interlaced willows.

Members of the Pioneer unit, one of the most active groups on the grounds, have been sleeping out-of-doors, having stretched netting across a framework of uprights for protection against mosquitoes, and have completed a dining table for their Edith Macy kitchen. They are chopping wood for fuel this week, and are anticipating a hike along "Cow Path" to the "Mound" this evening for an exciting treasure hunt by flashlight.

Wild berries, which they will gather from fruit-laden bushes in the woods, is to be the dessert at supper one evening, and a series of campfires are planned. On Thursday evening the Pioneers are to serenade the Intermediate unit with Girl Scout songs and visit the "Haunted House", to initiate the newcomers. The following evening will see both units combining their efforts in the staging of a circus.

Miss Pansy ("Pepper") Ressler is the resourceful unit leader for the Pioneer group.

Last week's campers included: Dixon—Alice Rutherford, Bonnie Hoon, Patricia Moore, Darlene Draper, Kathleen McKenney, Martha Moser, Barbara Langan, Darlene Henson, Janice Jensen, Diane Rybick, Jacqueline Rybick, Betty Nicklaus, Marjorie Foster, Barbara Caton, Martha Ann McNichols, Ann Chapman, Elsie May

Douglas Covert Claims Bride at Chicago Church

Wedding vows of Miss Wilma Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Stanley of Crossville, Ill., and Douglas R. Covert of Chicago, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Covert of 418 Peoria avenue, were solemnized Thursday afternoon at St. Martin's Episcopal church in Chicago. The Rev. F. Philip McDonald heard the vows at 4 o'clock.

Miss Gracia Covert of Chicago was maid of honor for her brother's bride, and Franklin Cline of Dixon served Douglas as best man. Others attending the ceremony were the bridegroom's parents, and Mrs. Franklin Cline. The bride's parents were unable to be present because of illness.

The bride was dressed in a pale blue crepe suit and white accessories, with a white orchid at her shoulder. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the bridegroom. Miss Covert wore a jacket dress of powder blue print with black accessories, and a shoulder spray of gardenias. Mrs. Covert, the bridegroom's mother, was wearing multi-colored silk jersey with white accents. Her corsage also contained gardenias.

A wedding dinner was served for 10 at the Central Plaza hotel, following the ceremony.

Douglas was graduated last month from Illinois Wesleyan university at Bloomington, where his bride completed her third year of study. He received a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering, and is now attending the Illinois Technology school in Chicago, preparatory for enlisting in the signal corps. He is a Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity man, and she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

The couple have taken an apartment at 158 North Central, Chicago.

TO CHICAGO

New Facilities to

synthetic rubber—yield butadiene from grain alcohol.
"These grain alcohol plants can be built with one-tenth of the critical materials and in from one-third to one-fourth of the time it takes to construct a petroleum-process plant," he declared.
"If we could get some of these grain alcohol plants built, I believe we could save months of time in the production of synthetic rubber and possibly increase the total amount obtained so that there would be some for civilian uses within a year or two".
WPB Allowances
Of a total potential annual production of 1,000,000 tons of synthetic rubber, approximately 200,000 tons has been allocated by the WPB to the grain alcohol process.
Nelson told a sub-committee headed by Gillette, yesterday, however, that he did not believe any new grain alcohol facilities should be erected at this time but was rushing plans to convert whiskey distilleries to make the industrial product.
Committee members have contended that such a program would place the grain alcohol method of producing butadiene and synthetic rubber on a temporary wartime basis only, while large petroleum process plants were being built which would be in full operation after the war ended.
Gillette said Nelson had agreed to make a complete report to the committee next Tuesday after which the group would reconsider legislation to set up an independent agency to direct the construction of grain alcohol plants, a measure which Nelson has opposed.

river, about half way between Moscow and Rostov.
While the Russians gave no indication that Voronezh had fallen, Red army headquarters indicated that Gen. Heinz Guderian's Nazi tank columns, sweeping 50 miles beyond the line of their greatest 1941 advance, had fought their way across the upper Don.
Soviet dispatches said the Red armies were falling back in good order, inflicting a bloody toll on the invaders, with a half dozen battles costing the Germans 3,550 in dead alone.
"During July 6, our troops waged fierce battles west of Voronezh and southwest of Stari Oskol," the Russian command said.
"Our troops evacuated a number of populated places."
Voronezh is 130 miles east of Kursk, the starting-point of the new German offensive. Stari Oskol lies 65 miles southwest of Voronezh.

Fresh Nazi Troops
Soviet dispatches said fresh German divisions were moving into the battle and that almost 200,000 Nazi troops were now throwing their weight into the drive, which ultimately could turn either south for a thrust into the great Caucasus oil fields or north for a flanking sweep around Moscow.
Although military experts expected Hitler to strike for the oil treasures of the Caucasus, they did not discount the possibility that he might also be intent on the prize that so bitterly eluded him in 1941—the capture of Moscow.
German communiques recently have stressed action in the Rzhnev zone, 120 miles northwest of Moscow, and today Hitler's field headquarters reported:
"In attacks in the Rzhnev area, the enemy was thrown from his positions on a broad front."
May Start New Pincers
This may be the start of a northern pincers movement against Moscow, synchronized with the southern sweep through Voronezh, some 300 miles below the Soviet capital.
In claiming the capture of Voronezh, the German high command said that Red army counter-attacks were defeated and that a single Nazi panzer division destroyed 61 Soviet tanks.
Russian dispatches, which may have been behind the latest German reports, declared Red army tanks ranging along the east bank of the Don river were throwing back successive waves of Nazis attempting to cross the stream.
The terrific harvest of casualties was reflected in Russian dispatches declaring that six trains totalling 247 cars, jammed with Nazi wounded, had been moving to the rear.

"We'll Be Unable to Purchase Any Items of Luxury"

Mexico City, July 7—(AP)—Citizens of the United States will find it difficult to purchase "anything beyond the essentials of living" by the end of this year, Claude R. Wickard, United States Secretary of Agriculture, said in an address prepared for delivery yesterday to the second Inter-American Agriculture conference.
"I know that the people of other American nations are making sacrifices, and we in the United States are making ours," Wickard told delegates from almost all the 21 American republics.
"By the end of this year it will be difficult for citizens of the United States to purchase any luxury goods—or, for that matter, anything beyond the essentials of living."
Asserting that the United States has shipped about two-and-a-half million tons of farm products to Britain and Russia under the lend-lease program, the secretary said the United States was depending on the other American republics to produce rubber, coconut, palm and vegetable oils, quinine, fibers, other agricultural products and many minerals.
He urged that factories and farms be converted to produce the necessary materials and crops for war. He said the Rubber Reserve Corporation of the United States had contracted for the purchase for the next five years of all the rubber that can be produced for export by several American countries with wild rubber trees.
Discussing the shipping shortage, Wickard said "sugar is available, but there are not enough ships. Movement of coffee and bananas is becoming more difficult. Wheat is piling up in Argentina and the United States."
"I see no likelihood that the shipping situation will so improve in the year ahead that we will be able to move anything but the essentials," the secretary added.

Agriculture Department To Have Funds for July

Washington, July 7—(AP)—The house passed and returned to the senate today stopgap legislation to provide funds for operations of the Agriculture department during July.
The action came after the members abandoned, temporarily, their previous stands for prohibitions against below-parity sales of government-held grain stocks, in the interest of obtaining agreement with the senate on legislation which would give the department operating funds for the first time since last Wednesday.
By a rollcall vote announced as 185 to 59, the members defeated a motion by Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the appropriations committee to insist that the senate agree to the prohibition which President Roosevelt and administration leaders have opposed.
Speakers made it plain during debate, however, that they intended to insist on their position in negotiations on the department's new appropriation, yielding only on the question of giving the department funds on which to operate during July.
Four Iowa F. B. I. Men Suffering Ptomaine
Des Moines, Iowa, July 7—(AP)—Four Iowa agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were in a hospital here today suffering from what their physician, Dr. H. A. Collins said was ptomaine poisoning.
Hospital officials said their condition was "fair."
The agents, taken ill yesterday after they had eaten sandwiches prepared for them at a restaurant, are:
James L. Dalton, 33, special agent in charge of the FBI in Iowa; Edward J. Coady, 31; George Brouillard, 31, and John Mulhall, 32.

the Middle East for which he is striving.
The Hitlerian strategy is plain enough. His offensive is calculated (1) to sever Russia's communications with the Caucasus, thereby cutting the Reds off from vital oil and food supplies, and (2) to swing a great army across the entrance to the Caucasus isthmus, ready for an assault southward to the oil fields and the Middle East.
Berlin already claims the capture of the city of Voronezh, an important railway junction near the upper Don. If this is true it would sever the last main line between Moscow and Rostov—a hard blow to the Russians. The Nazi chief also must envisage the capture of the big industrial city of Stalingrad on the Volga (use your maps please) and Astrakhan, which lies near the mouth of the Volga on the Caspian sea.
You will note that should fortune favor him to that extent he then would be holding a line right across the top of the isthmus running between the Black and Caspian seas. But there his troubles would be only well under way, for in order to drive down through this isthmus he must force the lofty Caucasus mountain range, which is one of the most formidable military barriers in the world. And south of those peaks he presumably would encounter against American and British forces.
Well, it doesn't seem necessary to carry the fudger any farther at the moment along the road to the golden oil, which he hopes to float to glory. There's another aspect of this situation which often is overlooked, and this is that the northern Caucasus for which Hitler is heading represents one of Russia's principal food sources.
Dr. Lazar Volin, specialist on eastern Europe for the United States Agricultural Department, has described this area as "one of the richest agricultural regions of the Soviet Union, nearly equal in soil to Iowa and Nebraska combined." He has said that the north Caucasus includes about one-fourth of the Russian winter wheat acreage, one-fifth of the total Russian barley acreage, forty per cent of the small Russian corn acreage, as well as tobacco, cotton and oilseeds.
Loss of this vast food center would create a grave problem for the Soviet, especially in view of the occupation of the Ukraine, long known as Russia's breadbasket. As long ago as last September when the Germans had overrun much of the Ukraine and were driving against the Crimea, Dr. Volin suggested that the United States might have to provide food for Russia. Loss of the upper Caucasus naturally would increase the needs.
So far as concerns the Nazi all highest, while he might deprive the Russians of food, he is likely to gain little for his own camp. The fruitful Ukraine, which now should be green with waving grain, is dead and black from the Russian scorched-earth policy, and presumably similar tactics will be applied wherever the hordes of German soldiery tread.

Local Women Have Chance to Obtain Jobs in War Work

Women without family responsibilities in the Dixon area may soon have a chance to secure jobs at the Green River Ordnance plant, Manager Southwick of the Sterling office of the United States Employment Service announced today.

"This isn't merely a chance for qualified women to get a job," said Southwick. "It's their opportunity to render a needed patriotic service to their country."

"Dixon is becoming increasingly important as an armament center. But arms production requires workers, and women will have to be drawn upon heavily to meet war labor needs in the months ahead. Women who have never worked before, and women who have been out of the labor market for sometime may find it necessary to offer their services if the war production program is to succeed."

"The United States Employment Service has been made responsible for finding the help needed for war industries. Here we are preparing for all eventualities by recruiting job applicants to do whatever is possible for the war effort."

Anticipating a large demand for women workers in jobs soon to open at the Ordnance plant, the office of the Federal Employment Service is extending every effort to recruit women applicants.

Southwick expressed the belief that there are enough local women, with the required qualifications to fit into these jobs at the Ordnance plant. So any women interested in doing her part to help Uncle Sam win, is urged to go at once to the office of the United States Employment Service and file an application.

The Sterling office of the Federal Employment Service is located at 212 Third avenue. Office hours are from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily except Sunday when the office closes at 12:30 p. m. Residents of Dixon and vicinity can register at the city hall in Dixon on Wednesday of each week, where a visiting office is open from 9:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m.

tion of New York and elsewhere had taken over Bund activities and continued to foster Nazi beliefs. He said these would be the subject of further investigation.
Correa said that under the cloak of the name "a militant organization of free Americans," the Bund organization sought to further the political and propaganda aims of the German Reich.
The indictments strike at leaders in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana, Washington state and California.

Technical Service

One indictment alleged that on Oct. 1, 1940, a command was issued over the name of Kunze to all Bundists which technically urged compliance with the selective service act but added:
"We represent the standpoint, however, that an induction in the military service is not justified as far as it concerns Bund members and American Germans, for in the selective service law the citizenship rights of Bund members and the defenders of Germanism are unconstitutionally severed."
"Every man, if he can, will refuse to do military duty until this and all other laws of the country and of the states which confine the citizenship rights of Bund members are revoked."

Correa declined to say how many Bundists inducted into the army had followed the command, but did say that army officials had arrested a number of men who said they would not fight against the German fatherland.

Another command, also issued in Kunze's name, advised members not to mention their connection with the Bund when complying with alien registration requirements.

For the last several months investigations into the Bund have been in progress and at least two witnesses committed suicide rather than testify before the grand jury. George Froese of Milwaukee, jumped under a railroad train in Indiana, while George Schwindl, a prospective witness, took his life in New York by gas.

Among those named in both indictments were: Wilbur V. Keegan, counsel for the Amerika Deutscher Volksbund until last January with offices at Teaneck, N. J.; August Klaproth, leader of the Bund's eastern department; William Luedtke of Saddle River township, N. J., secretary of the Bund; Gustav Elmer, national treasurer of New York.

al of South African infantry from the Gazala area.

About 75 German tanks attacked shortly after dawn. The battle raged all day. The ridge was held.

Captain's Account

Captain Stelling told Kennedy of the fighting in these words:
"We zigzagged about 100 yards each way, just keeping zig-zagging and firing at enemy tanks. Our orders were to fire at the enemy tank nearest to us and keep firing at it until we stopped it, then turn our fire on the next nearest tank."
"I opened up with our 75 millimeter gun when they came within 3,000 yards (about a mile and two-thirds), using high-explosive shells at first, changing to armor-piercing shells when they came nearer. When they came to within 1,200 yards, we used our 37 mm. gun, too. They launched three big attacks during the day, but no German tank got nearer than 700 yards to us."
"I don't know exactly how many we knocked out as we did not check them up, but there were at least nine."
He declared there was no question the American medium tank was the best tank in the desert.
Major Lodge went to the Libyan front to arrange for temporary inclusion of the American force in a Royal tank regiment and to get data for special training in desert warfare. He narrowly escaped being cut off in a German tank raid in the El Adem area.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY TOURNEY STARTS TOMORROW

Dixon C. C. Will Enter Two Teams

Detweiler to Head No. 1 Group; Bill Witzleb Will Play

By ORTMAN
Dixon Country club will be the first member of the Lincoln Highway Association to have two teams represent it in the annual blind bogey tournament which will be played on the local club course tomorrow and Thursday.
The No. 1 Dixon team will be headed by Ken Detweiler, holder of the individual score tournament record of 36 up which he established in the 1940 meet at the Edgewood club in Polo. Detweiler has been one of the top competitors since 1936 when he was runner-up to Dick Durkes of Dixon. Ken was second to Milton Beal of Clinton in 1937, '38 and '39. Last year he was third in the tournament played at the Kishwaukee club in DeKalb.
Behind Ken on the Dixon team will be young Bill Witzleb, recent winner of the Western Golf Association's amateur tournament and Illinois College conference champion. This will be Bill's first Lincoln Highway match.
Other players on Dixon's No. 1 team will be Wilson Dysart, shooting third, Floyd Smith, fourth, Em Rorer, fifth and Ray Wilbur sixth. The second team will be composed

American Leaguers Clip National All-Stars, 3-1

BOB FELLER OR RIGNEY TOSS FOR SERVICE STARS

Bagby Will Probably Be on Mound for American Leaguers

Cleveland, O., July 7—(AP)—A great, patriotic throng of 60,000 to 70,000 spectators is expected to fill comfortably Cleveland's massive Municipal lake front stadium tonight to witness the greatest stars in baseball battle to swell the army and navy emergency relief funds.
The competing teams will be Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors managed by Lt. Gordon "Mickey" Cochran, one-time pilot of the Detroit Tigers, and the ever-familiar stars of the American league, victorious in New York's Polo Grounds last night over the National league All-Stars, 3 to 1. The American leaguers led by the veteran Joseph Vincent McCarthy, manager of the world's champion New York Yankees.

BOUDREAU LEADS OFF WITH A HOMER

Lou Boudreau, Cleveland Indians' manager, dashing away from plate after belting second pitch of All-Star game into left field stands for a home run. The American league All-Stars beat the National 3-1 in the annual game played this year at Polo Grounds in New York. Catcher is Walker Cooper, St. Louis Cardinals, umpire Lee Ballanfant.

HOMERS BY LOU BOUDREAU, YORK DO ALL DAMAGE

Win 10th Annual Struggle in First Inning; Cooper Goat

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York, July 7—(AP)—Possibly better All-Star games will be played, but it is difficult to imagine one more dramatic than last night's spectacle in which the American league once again slugged the National into defeat, 3-1.
One minute after big Ernie Lombardi of the National leaguers lifted a lazy fly into the Polo Ground's right field to end the contest, pitch darkness closed over the big arena as part of New York City's second wartime blackout.

For 22 minutes the benefit crowd of 33,694 that had cheered itself for two hours sat tense and almost silent.
They sat at a wake for the blasted hopes of the National leaguers, who had entered the 10th annual Morton Cooper struggle with a burning determination to win and had seen their chances vanish almost with the first pitch.

Boudreau's blow must have unsettled Cooper, who had been Manager Leo Durocher's game-time choice to start instead of Claude Passeau of the Chicago Cubs, his original selection. For the next American leaguer, Tommy Henrich, bumped a double into right-center, and after the next two men went down big Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers lofted a homer into the upper deck in right field.
Seventh Victory
From there on, with the Americans boasting a three-run lead and their pitchers—Spud Chandler of the Yankees and big Al Benton of Detroit—setting the Nationals down inning after inning, there never was much doubt that the junior leaguers had won their seventh victory in 10 All-Star duels.
Where the Nationals had planned to invade Cleveland for a climatic appearance against the service All-Stars in Municipal Stadium tonight, they found themselves instead returning chastened to their respective clubs while the triumphant Americans headed for Cleveland.

Last night's game was over to all intents and purposes when Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's handsome young manager, laced the second ball pitched by Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals into the deep left field stand.
Here was Boudreau, who is not a distance cluster and had, in fact, hit only one previous home run this year, blasting for the circuit off Cooper.

Three Teams Tie at .500 in Am. Assn.

Only 2 1/2 Games Separate Second-Place Columbus, 6th Place

(By The Associated Press)
The American Association maintained its jig-saw pace last night as three clubs tied themselves up with 500 per cent rankings.
Minneapolis hung up its 42nd victory against 42 setbacks by clipping Milwaukee, 9-8. After dropping four in a row to Indianapolis, Louisville recuperated with an 8-5 victory. The Tribe now is hitting along with a 42-42 rating while the Colonels are plugging at 41-41.
Columbus failed to take advantage of the Brewers' defeat to clamp a tighter hold on second place and fell before the Toledo Mud Hens, 4-1. For the Hens, it meant a second triumph out of a six-game series.
League-leading Kansas City tail-ender St. Paul were idle.

Lou Lucier Hurt
The Colonels' hard fought win may prove costly. Their ace pitcher, Lou Lucier, was struck just above his left wrist by a ball from Joe Moore's bat in the ninth inning and was taken to a hospital for x-rays. He was one of four pitchers to hold the Tribe to four hits. The quartet, however, walked 12 batters, but the Indians passed up scoring chances by leaving 14 runners stranded and Louisville jumped into an 8-0 lead going into the eighth inning. Two errors were instrumental in the Tribe's three-run rally in the eighth and two more runs were forced across in the ninth on walks.
A home run by Ab Wright in the eighth with a mate aboard gave the Millers a lead which Milwaukee failed to match although pushing in two runs in the ninth in an attempt. "Ted Guille" night was observed by 6,728 fans who gave the veteran Milwaukee player—a member of the Brewers for 10 years—war bonds, stamps and other gifts. He showed his appreciation by getting three hits.
A four-hit job by Fritz Ostermuller helped Toledo overcome Columbus. His mates shoved over two runs in the second and another pair in the eighth off young Ted Wilks, who was striving for his third straight shutout. Chuck Stevens, Toledo first baseman, wrecked Wilks' string of 17 consecutive scoreless innings with a home run over the right field fence with Ray Parrott on base. In all, the Hens pelted Wilks for eight of their nine hits.

Spokane, Wash., July 7—(AP)—It is Bud Ward against the field today as the nation's top flight amateur golfers tee off for their last big tournament of the year—and in all probability their last of the war.

ling of trout, the real artist knows that if possible it should be the piece de resistance, should not be served with many other things, should be eaten alone, as it deserves, with a bit of bread, a pickle and a cup of coffee, that it is not a food to neutralize with a lot of foreign vegetables and gravy and other uncomplimentary side dishes, that it tastes best alone where its delicate flavors have no competition.
And the heads—my grandmother, who was a past master at the cooking of trout, told me that they were by far the best part of the fish, that only insane people ever threw them away, that the cheeks and those choice bits back of the skull were tastier than all the rest, that severing the head meant an irreparable loss of juices and certain intangible qualities that only a connoisseur could recognize.
Cook a brook trout right and you have a dish worth all the effort, but cook it wrong and you wonder why anyone should bother going to all the work necessary to bring in a mess, when carp and other rough fish are still on the market.

Western Meet to Be Ward's Last of War

Spokane, Wash., July 7—(AP)—It is Bud Ward against the field today as the nation's top flight amateur golfers tee off for their last big tournament of the year—and in all probability their last of the war.
Ward, a corporal in the air corps, will pack away his clubs after this Western Amateur championships and entrain for officers' training school. Officers' school and golf don't mix and Bud, twice holder of the Western title, is definitely out of big time golf for the duration.
Taking a last shot at Bud's title, are nearly a hundred of the nation's top amateurs.
Two of the field in particular—Corp. Pat Abbott of Los Angeles and Art Doering of Chicago—will be gunning for Ward regardless of the title. Abbott lost to Ward in the finals of the National Amateur last year and Doering was beaten by Ward in the finals of the Western Amateur championships at Colorado Springs.

SAVE HEADS WHEN FRYING BROOK TROUT

By Sig Olson
Clean them well, don't cut off the heads, and leave the eyes in though your guests may revolt. Dry them thoroughly, salt and pepper to taste and finish up by rolling them in either flour or corn meal.
Butter your pan and get it just hot enough so that the butter begins to brown and then drop your fish in one at a time.
Don't, for Heaven's sake, drop them all in together or the butter will get cold, and don't have too much grease, and don't treat brook trout as though they were ordinary fish. Trout are different, at least so stream fishermen think, and the cooking of them is an art practiced successfully only by those who understand them and who have served a long apprenticeship exploring their haunts.
When you get done, if you have lived right and know the signs, you will have something that you will remember for a thousand meals afterward, a soft brown tender delicacy with a flavor compounded of spring fed pools, moss covered rocks, water cress with marsh marigold on the side, deep shadows under the alders and even the sound of night hawks zooming at dusk or the music of white throats beside some rapids.
Eat Trout Alone
Most people realize at once that no fish can quite ever measure up to such a combination of qualities unless the fisherman and cook has, through the years, endowed some particular species with the proper emotional background.
And when it comes to the serv-

WAR FOOTBALL FUND APPROVES ARMY SCHEDULE

Eight Games Arranged With National Pro League Teams

New York, July 7—(AP)—The war football fund, handling the military gridiron setup for army emergency relief yesterday approved an eight game coast-to-coast schedule between the army's squad of 80 players and teams of the National Professional league. A ninth game may be approved later.
The army squad may be split into two groups, eastern and western, but "it is likely players will be interchanged," officials of the fund announced.
The team's coaching staff will be announced later this week. It will be drawn from a list of some 10 of the country's leading pilots, both in and out of the army.
Include College, Pro Players
All the players are now in the army. They include both college and pro performers in civilian life. Details for preseason training will be ironed out later, with the possibility that half the players will work out on the west coast to prepare for the opening game Aug. 30 against the Washington Redskins in Los Angeles Coliseum, and the others getting ready here to begin action against the New York Giants Sept. 12 in an annual charity game.
The schedule:
Aug. 30, Washington Redskins, Los Angeles; Sept. 6, Chicago Cardinals at Denver; Sept. 9 (night), Detroit Lions at Detroit; Sept. 12, New York Giants at New York; Sept. 13, Green Bay Packers at Madison, Wis.; Sept. 16, Brooklyn Dodgers at Jersey City, N. J.; Sept. 20, Chicago Bears at Boston.
Tentative Game Sept. 20
Fund officials arranged tentatively for a second Sept. 20 game, with the Bears at Syracuse, N. Y., but said nothing definite would be done about this yet.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON
Wide World Sports Columnist
New York, July 7—Look for Lou Boudreau to give another nifty performance against the service All-Stars tonight . . . Lou claims that the cares of being the Indians' manager haven't affected his play, but look what he did the first time he got out there on a ball field with no one to worry about but himself . . . Even Leo Durocher picked him as the stand-out of last night's game and Leo wouldn't admit any one of his National leaguers was any better than the others . . . Bill McKee must have known what was coming. While the American leaguers were getting the range in batting practice, Bill chased a crowd of reporters, photographers and autograph-getters away from the dugout. "I want to see the hitters," he explained.
Bright Idea
After the brawl was over last night, someone asked Durocher what the pitchers were throwing to Joe Gordon, who fanned three times . . . "I don't know," Leo answered emphatically, "but I'm gonna find out."
Today's Guest Star
Red Rennie, New York Herald Tribune: "The (All-Star) rap is a little stiff. But they guarantee a sit-down space for every ticket holder and you may have a son or pal stuck in some dreary spot where a ball and a glove would mean a lot to him. You'd send him two bucks if he asked for it, and this is just another way of doing him some good."
Sportpourri
Red Rolfe can have the job as Yale baseball coach if he wants it, but Yale won't be paying any world series bonus . . . When George Bunc, Pittsburgh sportsman, was introduced to King Peter II of Yugoslavia he learned that the king knew all about Fritzie Zivic—except that Fritzie had lost the welterweight title to Red Cochrane . . . University of California is passing up its summer sports schedule because only 4,220 students enrolled for the summer term instead of 7,000.
WILLIAMS GETS AWARD
Boston—National baseball weekly gave Ted Williams of the Red Sox a scroll for being the outstanding player of 1941 despite the fact that Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees was adjudged the most valuable in the American League.

DANCE

As an added innovation this year, the Dixon Country club will hold a dance at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night at the club for all contestants, spectators and guests. There will be no charge and everyone is asked to attend. The highlight of the evening's entertainment will be the presentation of awards won in the tournament. Prizes will be given to the winning team, the winning individual, runnerup, and the top man in each flight. The individual winner and runnerup cannot win prizes in their flights.

of Harold Green, first, Mark Keller, second, Oscar Witzleb, third, Doc Lazier, fourth, Bob Feldkirchner, fifth, Joe Miller, sixth.
Six of the seven members of the association have notified President Detweiler that they will enter teams. The Kishwaukee Country club, winner of last year's meet, will enter a group headed by Milo Oakland, individual champion in 1941. Oakland also has been the winner in two other tournaments and is one of the three men who have competed in each tourney. Along with Oakland will be Dee Hunt, player in all tournaments, three-time winner. Dee was second last year, winner of the first meet held in 1923 and also individual winner when Kishwaukee scored its record 175 up in 1935. Ric Lahti will also play with Kishwaukee. Ric is a flashy type player, and was the first entrant to wear shorts, in the tournament held at Polo in 1934. He finished second that year with a 24 up, having recorded a 22 up on the last 36 holes of play.

The Rock River Country club of Oregon will have its hopes for victory riding on the shoulders of John Franklin, Ed Etnyre, winner of the meet in 1930, and Bud Engstrom, club champion last year.
Doc Markle will head the Polo aggregation along with Ralph Corfe. Markle is the third man to compete in every match, was winner in 1927, and shot an ace in the 1932 tournament.

Bob Grieser, Bill Witzleb's "Good Luck Charm" and entrant in the W. G. A. tournament which Bill won, will play with the Rock River Golf club team from Sterling.
The Morrison Country club has also signified that it will have a representative in the tournament but the Clinton Country club boys will not compete this year. Their triple-winner, Milton Beal, has entered the army.
Play will start at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. There will be eighteen holes in the morning and afternoon with the concluding 36 holes being played Thursday morning and afternoon. Play is against blind bogey with players either going up or down on bogey. The aggregate up or down scores of the individual players determines the teams' score.

Play is conducted on a flight system with the number one men of each team playing together, the number two men playing together, etc. Tim Sullivan of Dixon will be official scorekeeper this year, having served in this capacity since the tournament was inaugurated 19 years ago.
Bogey and par for the course will be:
Par 4 3 5 4 3 4 4 4 4—35
Bogey 5 4 5 4 3 5 5 5—41
The public is asked to attend the tournament and is urged to follow the players around the course. A large gallery is desired.

There will be a banquet and association meeting at the club house tomorrow night following tournament play. Only members of the competing teams may attend.

Joint Council to Decide on World Series

New York, July 7—(AP)—Officials and club owners of the major leagues, meeting in three lengthy sessions yesterday, discussed the possibility of altering the plans for the 1942 world series, but left the final decision to the advisory council.
A long joint session, which followed separate league meetings and lasted almost till time for the all-star game, wound up with both leagues leaving the series entirely in the hands of the council, composed of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, President Will Harridge of the American league and President Ford Frick of the National league.

Mize Hottest Batsman in Big Leagues

New York, July 7—(AP)—Although he still is well down in the pack, the hottest member of the major league's hitting brigade during the past week was Johnny Mize, New York Giant first baseman.

Mize, who was handicapped at the start of the season by a wandering tendon in his shoulder, vaulted from tenth to sixth place in the National league race, boosted his average above .300 to .301 for the first time and retained his home run clouting honors.

Ted Williams, the reluctant dragon of the Boston Red Sox, climbed to the top of the American league band wagon for the first time this season, displacing both Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees and Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox, who have been alternating at the top rung much of the year.

800 Yugoslavians Are Reported Slain by Italy

London, July 7—(AP)—A Yugoslav government spokesman said today that word had been received of the execution of 800 Croat and Slovene peasants by Italian forces in the region of Yugoslavia facing Fiume, northeastern Italy.

It was said that six villages were razed by the Italians on the grounds that the peasants had aided guerrillas opposing the axis occupation of Yugoslavia and that the Italians had shot 12 persons and burned 20 houses near Split on the Dalmatian coast.

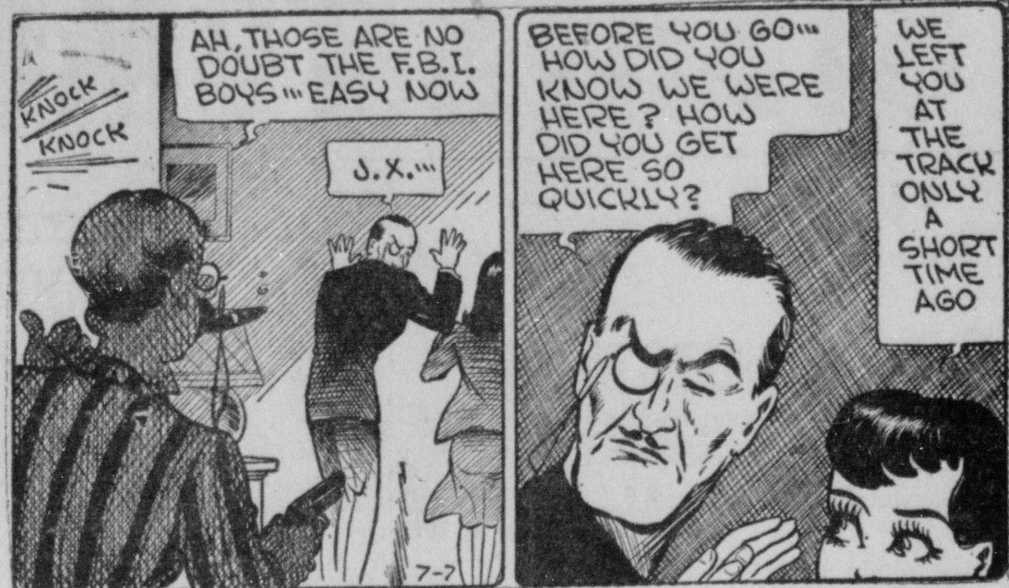

During 1939, New Hampshire had a tuberculosis death rate of 25.6 per 100,000 of its population.

Utch-Englehart Nuptials

Miss Virginia Mae Esther Utch of Compton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Utch, became the bride of Leroy W. Englehart of Paw Paw on Monday, June 29 at 1:00 o'clock at the Emanuel Evangelical Lutheran church in Brooklyn township.

Rev. L. J. Grosshaus performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and several close friends. The only out of town guest was her aunt, Miss Esther Florscheutz of Ottawa.

The church was decorated with baskets of beautiful garden flowers. During the ceremony Mrs. L. O. Grosshaus played on the organ, "O Promise Love." The bride was given in marriage by her father. Entering to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, the bride and groom left the altar to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Before the ceremony the following numbers were rendered: "Tenderesse," "Woldheim" and "The Twilight Hour." The bride was lovely in her gown fashioned of white velvety embroidered silk mousseline de soie in princess style, sweetheart neckline, bodice and yoke of rose point chantilly lace, long, tight sleeves to a point over the hands, tiny satin buttons down finger tip, circular silk tulle veil caught to a seed pearl tiara with blusher veil. She wore a gold heart shaped locket, a gift of the groom, and a gold bracelet that was worn by her mother on her wedding day. She carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses and baby breath. Her bridesmaid, Miss Ruth Florscheutz, a cousin, was fashioned similarly to that of the bride, in yellow silk mousseline de soie and a matching tiara. She carried a mixed bouquet of white, yellow and blue and wore a pastel costume bracelet, a gift of the bride. David Englehart, a brother of the groom, was best man. The groom, his attendant and the bride's father wore white boutonniers. The bride's mother wore blue silk print with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a green silk print with white accessories. Both wore shoulder corsages of pink roses, lily and baby breath.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, with seventeen present. The table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, decorated with yellow and blue, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was cut by the bride. Table waitresses were Miss Mildred Florscheutz of Sublette, a cousin, and Miss Lucille Brucker, a very close friend of the bride, and Mrs. David Englehart.

The bride graduated in 1940 from the Mendota high school and has been a very active member of various clubs and organizations. The bridegroom graduated from the Rollo high school in 1938. He is now employed in Chicago with the Bell Telephone Company.

After dinner the happy couple left on a wedding trip through Wisconsin. On their return they plan to make their home in Chicago. For going away the bride wore a plain jacket and turf tan accessories.

Their many friends here in Paw Paw wish to extend their heartfelt congratulations and many good wishes for a happy married life.

Grange Meets

The Grange held its regular meeting Friday evening. A large crowd was in attendance and the regular business meeting was held. 2 Men Refuse to Buy Bonds, Strike Results

Miami, Fla., July 7—(AP)—A strike of laborers in a small defense factory was reported Monday because two of their fellow workers refused to sign agreement for the regular purchase of war bonds or stamps.

Joe Parker, personnel manager of the Metal Trades Corp., said trouble developed in the plant last week when one employee said he couldn't afford to buy war stamps regularly and another said he wasn't interested.

"The boys wanted to make it 100 per cent," Parker said. "There's been a lot of grumbling. This morning it came to a head. There was a demonstration and the boys walked out. They say they won't come back until we fire the two men who wouldn't join up."

Pickets carried placards, one of which read: "We won't work with slackers."

Parker said 20 men in one plant were affected.

Obituary

Funeral services for Warden D. Tilton, who passed away Thursday afternoon at five o'clock after almost two years of failing health, were held Sunday afternoon from the Church of God, conducted by Rev. S. E. Magaw. He was born in Pine Rock township, April 18 1857, son of Thomas and Nancy Atkins Tilton and was a life long resident of Ogle county.

On September 11, 1878 he was married to Eliza J. Hogan who passed away in 1939 on their sixty-first wedding anniversary.

Also preceding him in death were a son, Shirley, who gave his life for his country in the Argonne Forest in November 1918, his parents and four brothers. Surviving are a son, Andra of Oregon; a sister, Mrs. Edward O'Bannon of Omaha, Neb.; a grandson, Everett Tilton of Dixon and several nieces and nephews. He had been a faithful member of the Church of God for more than forty years. He was laid to rest in the family lot in Washington Grove cemetery.

Downstate Lags in Applications for Civil Service Jobs

Springfield, Ill., July 7—(AP)—Downstate communities are lagging far behind the Chicago area in the number of applicants for state civil service positions, figures released by the Civil Service Commission showed today.

Of the 12,000 applicants who took civil service examinations in May, 65.4 per cent were from the "Chicago area" embracing Cook county and the territory within a 50-mile radius of Chicago.

The commission made public the figures following a protest by Senator Earl B. Searcy (R-Spring-

President Robert L. Hunter of the civil service commission said "our figures indicate an apparent lack of interest in state civil service employment opportunities by residents of a number of downstate areas".

Efforts are being made, he added, to acquire more potential applicants with information about future examinations.
